MARSH WOULD LIKE TO THANK ADNIC, AIG, LIBERTY, SCOR, SWISS RE, AND TRUST RE, FOR THEIR KIND SPONSORSHIP.

WELCOME

We are delighted to be welcoming you to our fifth, biennial, NOC conference. This year our conference "Beyond the Horizon: Managing the Next Frontier of Risk" will address the complex and evolving risks faced by NOCs, IOCs, and independent oil companies.

The environment continues to change, and we sense that the risk landscape has been transformed by numerous factors, including developments in scale and pace, and new technologies challenging the frontiers of oil and gas exploration and production.

Through workshops, master classes, presentations, panel debates, and case studies, our conference will provide an update on how companies are dealing with these changes, and demonstrate how they should prepare for the next frontier of risk.

Participants will have the opportunity to hear from a number of energy industry leaders and other global experts as they debate what is currently being done to navigate these challenging times.

This year we have made a few enhancements to the program, these include:

Engineering and Data Analytics Clinics – a chance for an informal chat with these subject matter experts, you will find more information on page 4.

Hot risk topic workshops – these interactive workshops provide a new learning opportunity on a diverse range of topics.

Marsh Café – with coffee from many of the major oil producing nations, the Marsh Café provides a comfortable and relaxed environment to network with other conference delegates.

Mobile app – we have a number of new features on our mobile app which we hope you will take advantage of. See page 2 for download details.

If there is anything we can do to enhance your time at the conference please do not hesitate to ask one of the team.

NOC CONFERENCE MOBILE APP

'Mobile Attendee' was so well received when it was introduced at our last NOC conference in 2012 that we are delighted to be able to offer it again this year. Mobile Attendee is a mobile app that energizes person-to-person connections and enables you to search for and send messages to other attendees.

In addition to helping you network whilst at the conference, Mobile Attendee will instantly deliver essential and fully updated information such as links to our latest white papers, the meeting agenda, logistical details, maps, bios, and more.

Mobile Attendee operates on a variety of devices including iPad, iPhone, iPod, Blackberry and Android phones. To find the app in the App or Goggle Play store, search for 'Marsh NOC.' We also encourage you to speak to a staff member to learn how to access and download the Marsh NOC mobile app.

NOC CONFERENCE ON TWITTER

Delegates are encouraged to join the online conversation about the conference via Twitter. Please use the conference hashtag #MarshNOC when tweeting.

You can tweet from the Marsh NOC mobile app. Once you have installed it:

- 1. Navigate to the Meeting Agenda.
- 2. Tap on the session you are attending.

3. Click the button to select Twitter.

- 4. If asked, sign in to your Twitter account.
- 5. You can then tweet the pre-selected text or change it to add your own comments.

If you have any inquiries on how to tweet, please ask a staff member for assistance.

HOT RISK TOPIC WORKSHOPS

DAY 1 - TUESDAY 18, 10:00 - 12:30

Taking place during the first morning of the conference, our industry hot risk topic workshops will provide delegates with in-depth discussions on industry-related subject matter.

THINK THE UNTHINKABLE: ASSESSING YOUR CONTROL OF WELL EXPOSURE AL BARAHA 3

The hazards of offshore development have been brought into sharp focus in recent years. The term 'blowout' is now publicly recognized, demonstrating just how wide-reaching the consequences of a major well control incident can be. Quantifying the cost is now top priority for industry risk managers. Covering everything from emergency drill rig mobilization to insurance claim preparation, this panel will demystify some of the most pressing risk management issues in the offshore sector.

Chaired by: Richard Higgins, Managing Director, Marsh Christian Heck, Insurance Manager, RWE Dea AG Nigel Wick, Partner, Holman Fenwick Willan John Yates, Upstream Risk Engineering Practice Lead, Marsh Kashe Sambhi, Head Offshore Energy, Swiss Re Simon Mason, Head of Energy, Apollo Syndicate Kevin Jarman, Chief Executive, Matthews Daniel

THE GAS TRANSFORMATION REVOLUTION AL BARAHA 2

The widespread application of non-conventional gas drilling techniques has caused a surge in gas transformation investments in the Midstream, LNG, Petrochemical, GTL, and Fertilizer industries. The workshop will explore the nature and scale of the exposures from these gas transformation investments and the implications for the value chain for gas.

PETROCHEMICALS: THE SUPPLY CHAIN AND CONTINGENT BUSINESS INTERRUPTION (CBI) CONUNDRUM AL BARAHA 1

The quantification of limits for and exposures to CBI is growing more complex, and we do not expect the pressure for information on how companies are managing their exposures to subside.

This session's objective is to review best practice on informationgathering/EML calculations, and contingency planning. Chaired by: Chris Price-Kuehne, Vice President, Marsh Michel Krenzer, Onshore Energy Manager, SCOR Global P&C Ian Peters, MENA Risk Consulting Leader & Claims Practice Leader, Marsh

Willie Morgan, Managing Director of Power and Energy Division, Crawford

Saeed Bayounis, President, Sahara & Ma'aden Petrochemicals Company

MANAGING AGING INFRASTRUCTURE: A REFINING PERSPECTIVE AL NOOR 1

With little or no funding since the 1970s, most refining facilities in North America and Europe are now operating well beyond the original design life. As similar plants in the rest of the world start to move into their twilight years, the knowledge gained in the more traditional refining territories needs to be shared and heard. Chaired by: Jasper Clark, Vice President, Marsh Ian Robb, Global Engineering Manager, Liberty Ram Goyal, Risk Management Advisor and Leader of Central Reliability Engineering, BAPCO Mohamed Houari, Head of Business Development, DNV Paul O'Neill, Global Head of Energy, Allianz

THE NEXT FRONTIER IN POWER TURBINES AL KHAYMA

As the technology employed in the power sector constantly evolves, so too does the importance of assessing the true exposures. In this session, key stakeholders will discuss how optimal risk transfer and contractual arrangements can be developed.

Chaired by: Glenn Preece, Senior Vice President, Marsh Yasir Mahmoud, Development Director, ACWA Power Alessandro Cerase, Energy & Engineering Risk Executive, Global Property - MEA Region, AIG Scot Peachey, Senior Vice President, Marsh

CLINICS: COME AND SPEAK TO OUR EXPERTS

TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY

Taking place throughout the first two days of the conference, our analytics and engineering clinics provide an opportunity to come and speak to our experts.

DATA ANALYTICS CLINIC DAY 1: 14:00 17:00 AL KHAYMA DAY 2: 9:00 17:00 AL MAJLIS

Analytics are changing risk management. Mobile technology, "big data," risk-adjusted benchmarking, predictive analytics, and other innovations are leading to exciting new ways to analyze risk and help inform strategic business decisions.

"Data analytics" is the use of raw data to produce insights or conclusions that can be acted upon. It supports fact-based decision making and has significant potential to be leveraged in the risk management space. Risk managers have an opportunity to become even more engaged in their organization's strategic direction and execution by demonstrating how deliberate risk management methodologies help drive a disciplined approach to risk-based decisions.

To help your organization ensure your insurance program brings the best value, John Davies from Marsh's Global Analytics team will be running clinics during the two days of the conference that will cover several strategies for using data and analytics to create effective and efficient risk management programs.

Email Sophie Burnoud to book your session with the analytics team: sophie.burnoud@marsh.com

THE ENGINEERING CLINIC CONFERENCE CENTRE LOBBY DAY 1 & 2: 9:00 - 17:00

The planning and implementation of an effective risk management strategy is dependent on a flow of information, which is often highly technical and frequently impenetrable to anyone other than an engineer.

Marsh's Global Energy Risk Engineering (GERE) team is uniquely qualified to provide risk managers and underwriters with the essential information they need to determine the right limit and scope of cover.

Come and meet some of our qualified engineers at our Engineering Clinic. All have practical experience in design, construction, operation, and maintenance across a broad range of oil, gas and petrochemical risks. In addition, they have advanced insurance expertise and are able to bridge the gap between risk engineering, insurance and risk management – and between the client and the underwriter. Their experience and Marsh's expansive client base also enable them to benchmark your risk against peer plants from around the world.

Email Mariné Botha to set up an appointment with the engineering team: marine.botha@marsh.com

MASTER CLASSES

DAY 3 - THURSDAY 20, 09:15 - 12:00

Taking place on the third and final morning of the conference, our Master Classes will provide delegates with a learning opportunity and in-depth discussions on their chosen topics.

OFFSHORE CONSTRUCTION AL BARAHA 1

The offshore construction master class will give attendees a holistic look at the various elements involved in the placing a major offshore construction risk, taking in a review of the offshore market capacity and potential future trends, key issues of concern to underwriters, contractual liabilities, and setting up a claims

Chaired by: Ian Curtin, Managing Director, Marsh James Brown, Class Underwriter, Chaucer Nabil Khawaja, Managing Director, Marsh

INTERNATIONAL INSURANCE PROGRAMS: THE CHALLENGES OF TRANSITION FROM NOC TO I-NOC

ALBARAHA3

The line between being an in-country state enterprise and a publicly traded multinational corporation has become increasingly blurred over time. This transition has presented NOCs, brokers, and underwriters with interesting new challenges when it comes to the provision of appropriate and effective risk transfer solutions. The international insurance programs master class aims to cover the "A-Z" of structuring and placing a complex, multinational insurance program for a "transitional" NOC.

Chaired by: Amy Barnes, Managing Director, Marsh Tom Shiel, Senior Consultant, Indecs Consulting Limited Alison Clarke, Senior Underwriter Offshore Energy, Zurich Colin McPhie, Multi Line Deal Manager, Zurich Praveen Sharma, Senior Vice President, Marsh Robert Wellman, Global Insurance Risk Manager, SABIC

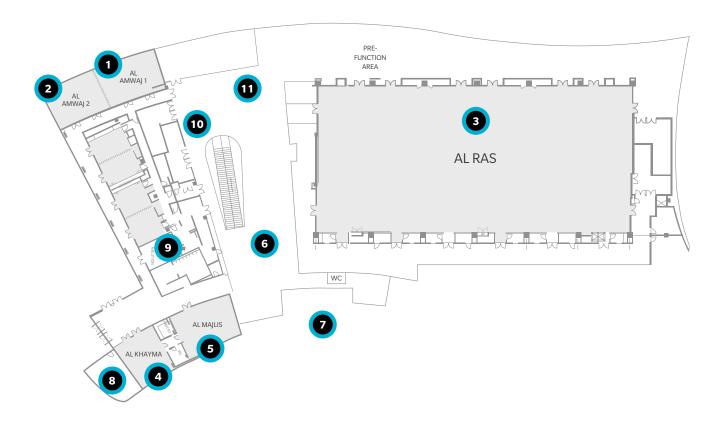

UNDERSTANDING OIL INSURANCE LIMITED (OIL): CONSTRUCTING AN OIL WRAP ALBARAHA 2

The "original" alternative to the commercial reinsurance market, OIL now boasts over USD2 trillion of assets insured throughout the globe. OIL's unique mutual mechanism and funding philosophy make it an attractive solution to a broad range of energy companies. So how does OIL really differentiate itself from a commercial insurer? How can it be used in my insurance program? And will it work? This master class offers attendees the chance to hear OIL and Marsh describe how OIL can fit with your coverage requirements.

Chaired by: Guy Bessis, Managing Director, Marsh Theresa Dunlop, Vice President, Oil Insurance Limited (OIL) George Hutchings, Chief Operating Officer, Oil Insurance Limited (OIL)
